

AdvanceMed ANZPMEF Workshop

How To Develop and Sell Your Medical Career

Target audience:

Doctors in Training as well as anyone who supports the career development of trainee doctors (for e.g. Education Registrars, Directors of Training and JMO Managers)

In this workshop, we will cover:

- How to identify and implement strategies for standing out in medicine
- How to describe your strengths and stand-out contributions in the written form, including curriculum vitae and LinkedIn profiles
- How to align your strengths, unique skills and unique stories with the types of competencies that Specialist Colleges and employers seek

You will walk away from this workshop:

- Convinced that narrative is important in describing your career
- Having highlighted important examples from your career
- With ideas for significantly improving your CV and online career profiles

This workshop is run by Dr Anthony Llewellyn, Founder of AdvanceMed.

Anthony has over 25 years' experience in Medical Human Resources, and is the past Executive Medical Director of the Health Education & Training Institute (HETI) and is Australia's leading online Doctor Career Coach.

Anthony's videos on YouTube under the channel "Career Doctor" and blog posts via www.advancemed.com.au are heavily used by doctors to prepare them for the job application process.
